ABOUT

Data Product Owner with a builder's mindset and 6 years of experience bridging complex data and user-facing products. Proven across industrial environments (Manufacturing and Aerospace), digital consulting, and education. Technical by background, product by practice. I don't just write specs, I ship.

WHY PRODUCT

There is an obvious connection between Lego bricks, music production, and building software products. It all comes down to taking an idea to a tangible result that creates value. This builder mindset, combined with a technical background in data engineering and full-stack development, is what draw me naturally to the Product Owner role. I thrive at the intersection of user needs, data, and delivery.
